THE INDIANS.

Speech to Indians.

BIG CABIN, INDIAN TERRITORY, June 12.—By invitation of the Cherokees of this district, Colonel E. C. Boudinott addressed a large number of people at this place today. The Colonel criticised the course of their delegates in not giving a full account of the actual condition of the country. He said a crisis was upon them that should be met as became men. That however much they might regret it, a great change in their condition would soon come, and as wise men they should prepare to meet it. He claimed that there was only a conditional sale of their land west of the 96th meridian which condition had been violated on the part of the government. He advised them to accept the situation, have their land sectionized, and the balance of their land sold. These lands would yield them one million dollars, besides six hundred acres of land to each family, which in ten years would be worth fifteen thousand of dollars, making them the richest community in the world. He was listened to with marked attention. His speech will set the people to thinking on these important questions. Competent judges estimate the number of cattle along the line of the road between here and the end of the track of the M. K. & T. Railroad at thirty thousand head. Advices from Texas say that since the recent troubles with the Indians, nearly all the cattle are being driven this way.

ARRIVAL OF COTTON.

Ninety-five bales of cotton from Sherman, Texas, arrived to-day for shipment over the M. K. & T. Railroad.

NEW YORK.

Excitement in the Stock Exchange—Ancient Foresters' Society—Specie Shipment—Mass for the French Victims—The Druggists' Examining Board—Arrested for Defrauding the Revenue—New Line of Steamers—Grocers' Board of Trade—Annual Regatta.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

The excitement at the Stock Exchange yesterday fully equalled the famous black Friday About the first of April a combination was formed to force up the price of Rock Island stock, and get a corner on the bears. The principal men in the clique were William S. Woodward and John F. Track, President of the railroad. Starting from the price of 112, they gradually brought up the Rock Island stock till yesterday morning it sold at 120. The capital stock of the Company amounts to $17,000,000, or 170,000 shares of one hundred dollars each. On Tuesday afternoon Woodward had all his arrangements completed for making an enormous sum of money. He and his clique had actually bought 273,000 shares, 10,300 more than have ever been issued, and all the gold-sight dealers who had sold short would have been at their mercy, and would have been compelled to submit to any terms they chose to offer. But "there's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip," as Woodward found to his cost. All day Tuesday he had taken every share that was offered, and towards the afternoon he became a little suspicious of the sellers. He was under an engagement to put up a large amount of margin. Yesterday morning the clique were to furnish him with a million dollars to pay this margin. On Tuesday evening, in company with his brokers, Scott & Strong, he visited some of the leaders of the clique, where he found to his horror and amazement that the one million dollars would not be forthcoming. In the morning so little was this result anticipated that at the opening of the Exchange yesterday morning the Rock Island stock was quoted at 130⅜. As soon as the trouble was known, indescribable confusion ensued, and inevitable ruin stared dozens of men in the face, and many others had to contemplate heavy losses and get out of the mess as best they could. Shouting, yelling and rushing about was more characteristic of lunatics than of staid business men. Soon after the Board was closed, several members officially informed the Vice President that they must fail, and desired that their stock might be sold out under this rule. About three millions of stock was sold in this way, lowering the market price from 130⅜ to 110 in less than two hours. Nine of the dealers, excluding Woodward, were publicly announced as failed. Woodward will undoubtedly fail—in fact he has virtually failed, for one of the firms already declared as failed informed the Vice President that they were unable to fulfil their engagements in consequence of this default. Scott and Strong, Woodward's brokers, are not affected by the catastrophe.

THE "TRIBUNE" DENOUNCES WOODWARD.

The Tribune to-morow will have the following in reference to the Rock Island panic: The general drift of the comments upon the Rock Island affair was violently denunciatory of the principles concerned in it. Woodward was alleged to have deliberately plundered the street of from five hundred thousand to a million dollars; in doing so to have remorsely broken down a dozen or so smaller firms dependent upon him. He was pronounced a confidence man of the first magnitude. The basis of these allegations is the old story, that while employing one of the brokers to run up the stock to prices which, as when Spiers was bidding 166 for gold on Black Friday, were never intended to be paid, or other brokers were rapidly selling for the clique to bona fide buyers, making it actually a game of "head's I win, tails you lose." The pool paid out nothing, but received large sums. An incident of affairs was developed yesterday which seems to illustrate very fully the tactics of the pool. A broker had borrowed 500 shares of Rock Island stock from one of Woodward's men, and on Tuesday afternoon he was peremptorily requested to deposit a large amount of money to meet the fictitious rise in the price caused by the pool. He sold stock at an early hour Wednesday, and then demanded a return of the amount put up as margin, but was told Woodward had failed. He brought suit, and yesterday a Sheriff's officer went to the Safe Deposit's vault under the Stock Exchange building to seize the contents in the box owned by Woodward, but the box was found to be empty. The victim then attached the bank account, the slippery broker congratulating himself meanwhile that he was first in the field and had still a fair prospect of recovering the amount of which he claimed to have been robbed. Many similar cases are presumed to have occurred, growing out of the pool system, buying on credit, and exacting cost sales, though such talk has never heretofore amounted to anything. It now appears to be quite seriously proposed to make a thorough investigation into the late corner, and hold to strict account those found to have been concerned in the swindle. Woodward is said to have failed under similar circumstances four times during the last five or six years. One broker says if the money market had happened to be light this time the cash would have swept half of Wall street. It must be made actionable to play games of this sort, and the board of brokers must sift this affair to the bottom.

ANNUAL REGATTA.

The annual regatta of the New York Yacht Club came off to-day. The start was made from the stake boat at 11 A. M. The sloop Kaiser Wilhelm led the fleet through the Narrows, followed by the sloops Viking, Coming and Peerless; schooners Tidal Wave, Fleetwing, Palmer, Alice, Magic, and others. The wind held from the southeast, with an ebb tide to the southwest spit, and here half of the fleet rounded one of the new can buoys recently placed there instead of the southwest spit buoy. In rounding the light ship, six miles off Sandy Hook, the Dauntless fouled the Madeline, carrying away her foretop mast and light sails. The wind then hauled southward, and all started their sheets for home. On the home stretch against an ebb tide the wind calmed down, the smallest vessels going ahead and the schooners losing distance. The first vessel home was the schooner Tidal Wave, start 11:50 and return over forty-two miles of course, clock time six hours and sixteen seconds, Columbia, 6:15.2; Palmer, 6:27.42; sloops: Addie, 6:29.0; Peerless, 6:49.28. As half of the fleet rounded the wrong buoy, the judges declined to make a decision until all the protests were received. If the sailing directions are adhered to, the sloop Coming takes the subscription cup, and the schooner Jalu of the Club Bennet, the subscription If the buoy at the southwest spit was turned in error by half of the fleet, it is allowed that the schooner Tidal Wave takes the three schooner prizes, and the sloop prizes lie between the Addie and Viking. The decision will be made to-morrow.

THAT BRIBERY CASE.

The Tribune's Washington special says: No doubt the dispatch from Long Branch in regard to the sale of the information of General Pleasanton's decision in the Central Railroad Scrip case is in the main correct, but in justice to the officers of the road it should be said that the information was not sold or offered to the President or any prominent officer of that company, but to a person or persons who desired to use it for purposes of private speculation. The letter was brought to the attention of the President by Secretary Boutwell.

MRS. VALLANDIGHAM'S ILLNESS.

A special dispatch from Dayton says that Mrs. Vallandigham is still unconscious. The physicians, who are in constant attendance, are reticent as to her recovery. She fails to recognize her most intimate friends who are watching by her bed side. By many it is feared that she has lost or will lose her reason, while others declare that they are fearful that the shock she has encountered during the past few days, in the loss of both brother and husband, threatens the most fatal consequences, and that her death is merely a matter of short time.

Wm. Cheney.

GREAT WORK UNDERTAKEN.

The great work undertaken by the city of Chicago some three years since of deepening the summit level of the Illinois and Michigan canal so that the waters of Lake Michigan might find an outlet to the Illinois river, and thence to the Mississippi and the Gulf, is nearly completed, and the pure waters of the lake will soon displace the foul contents of Chicago river. To-day at half-past eleven o'clock workmen commenced moving the massive stone blocks which cap the walls of the lock at Bridgeport, and on Saturday night, the 24th, the water will be drawn off. The canal dam will be put in above and below the lock, and the north side of the structure will be entirely removed and the channel widened to about forty feet. While this is being done the lock and the lower end of the level will also be removed and all obstructions to navigation taken out. The contractors are very sanguine in the belief that this work will be completed and navigation resumed on the lake level by the Fourth of July.

THE SOUTHERN OUTRAGES.

In the Joint Committee on Southern Outrages yesterday, Mr. Stephenson, of Ohio, offered a resolution to send a sub-committee of three into the disturbed sections of the South. ## HAZELTON, PA.

The Mining Troubles.

HAZELTON, June 22.—The acceptance by the miners, at Monday's meeting, of the operator's offer is not equivalent to a resumption of work. There are many points of difference between the men and their employers, aside from the amount of wages to be paid for cutting coal, and these differences have not been touched. It is now stated authoritatively that the operators will not allow the men to resume work until all questions are settled and all points of dispute yielded by the miners. There is little doubt but that the men will concede everything shortly, but the meeting accomplished little or nothing in that direction.

TENNESSEE.

Railroad Accident.

NASHVILLE, June 22.—A collision occurred yesterday on the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, near McEwen's Station, between a freight and passenger train. Neither of the locomotives were much damaged, but a passenger named R. M. Vass, who was standing on the platform, was killed, his head being cut in two and his body badly mangled. W. S. Condon, baggage master, and James Bonner, brakeman, were badly wounded. Vass resided in Haywood county, Tennessee. His remains were brought to Nashville.

LOUISVILLE.

Woman Assaulted by a Negro.

LOUISVILLE, June 22.—Mrs. Anna Crump, with four children, while going out blackberrying early this morning, was attacked on Preston street by Moses Jackson, a negro, who threw her down, choked her and attempted to outrage her person, but was frightened away by the approach of a boy, who threatened to shoot him. Mrs. Crump was considerably bruised and her clothing torn into shreds in the struggle. Jackson was jailed in default of twenty-five hundred dollars bail.

RUNAWAY.

This afternoon a horse ran away with a buggy, in which was Mrs. R. M. Cunningham, wife of the cashier of the First National Bank of this city, and lately a leading dry goods merchant. Mrs. Cunningham jumped from the buggy, and was so badly injured that she will probably die before morning.

RUN OVER.

At the grand race on the Greenland race course W. W. Abbott, keeper of the course, was thrown from his buggy, and the horse and buggy following ran over him, smashing in his side and badly cutting him about the head. He is not expected to recover.

DROWNED.

Miller Cooke, about fourteen years of age, was drowned while swimming in the canal this evening.

CAUGHT BETWEEN BUMPERS.

This afternoon at the Louisville and Nashville Railroad depot, Pat Doyle, while coupling cars, was caught between the bumpers and had his leg smashed. Amputation was performed at the thigh, but the man is dying.

NEWARK, N. J.

Great Excitement.

NEWARK, June 22.—There was great excitement at Bloomfield this morning, occasioned by the citizens being called out by a violent ringing of church bells to resist the encroachments of the Miland Railroad, for which a bridge is about to be built across the Paterson turnpike in the village. Several hundred citizens rallied and drove away the railroad men, who are about to seek a legal remedy.

PRESIDENT GRANT.

President Grant and wife, with a few friends from Elizabeth, drove through this city this noon, on their way to Long Branch, calling on Senator Frelinghuysen on the route.

HARTFORD.

Hon. W. W. Eaton Ill.

HARTFORD, June 22.—While making a speech in the House to-day upon the question to appropriate money for a new capitol building at Hartford, Hon. W. W. Eaton was taken with a fainting fit and sank into his seat. The House immediately took a recess. Eaton was taken to his residence, and there was no further consideration of the question under discussion. Eaton is comfortable this afternoon.

WILKESBARRE.

Mine Caved In.

ALABAMA.

Petition Decided.

MONTGOMERY, June 22.—In the United States Circuit Court Judge W. R. Woods to-day decided on the petition of the Alabama & Chattanooga Railroad that he, sitting as a Circuit Court Judge, had power to revise all proceedings in bankruptcy in the middle district of Alabama under the second section of the bankrupt law. The case arises from a petition to review the decree of Judge Busteed adjudging the Railroad Company a bankrupt. The petition, upon its merits, will be heard on Saturday.

SARATOGA.

Editorial Convention.

SARATOGA, June 22.—The New York State Editorial Convention assembled here this morning. Over one hundred editors were in attendance. An address was delivered by Wm. T. Tinsley of the Lyons Republican. Letters were read from Postmaster General Cresswell, Horace Greeley, Martin Marble, Issac Butts, and others. This afternoon the association will make a trip to Saratoga Lake and in the evening a complimentary ball will be given at the grand Union Hotel. To-morrow they will visit Lake George.

The jury was composed entirely of colored men.

Titusville Oil Market.

TITUSVILLE, June 22.—The Courier reports sales of petroleum as follows: Upper Road, 500 bbls spot, $4.65; do 250 do do, $4.67½; do 500 do do, $4.70; do 500 do B. O. 60 days, $5.05; do 500 S. S. 90 days, $4.85; Oil City, 2000 do 47 gravity, $5.20; do 2000 do do, $5.20. The market opened quiet, but strong, with a slight disposition on the part of holders to demand a farther slight advance; but in this effort they met with no success. Sales were not, however, urged to any extent, buyers not appearing at all anxious. In the afternoon all offers to buy seemed to be withdrawn and the market was preceptibly weaker. On the Upper Road as high as $4.70 was paid for spot, but the market closed dull and drooping at $4.65. On the Lower Road $5.00 was steadily demanded, but buyers were scarce. At Oil City there was very little done. The market closed dull and weaker.

THERE arrived at Alexandria, Va., yesterday afternoon, in a most pitiable condition, a Mrs. C. H. Damon and her child. She is the widow of a missionary who died in New Zealand a few years ago, leaving her destitute. She left New Zealand last December with five children for Montgomery, Alabama. On her way the vessel she was on was wrecked in the Bay of Biscay, and she was picked up by a passing vessel and taken to London. She lost four of her children at sea, and after many perils and hardships has finally arrived at Alexandria, where she has relatives. She has had more hair-breadth escapes than often fall to the lot of even the most of missionaries.

IN a certain cemetery in a town in Connecticut can be found a lot containing five graves, one in the centre, the others near by at the four points of the compass. The inscriptions on the latter read, respectively, after the name of the deceased: "My I. Wife," "My II. Wife," "My III. Wife," "My IV. Wife," while the centre stone bears the brief but eloquent expression, "Our Husband."

THE reason that the Louisville editors dislike the final "h" in Pittsburgh is, that it would be an unpleasant terminal for their own town. Begin to spell Louisvilleh backwards and you find yourself in perdition at once.

AN estate in Germany, valued at $1,000,000, is said to be seeking, as one of the heirs, Frederic William Keyser, who served as a Union soldier during our war, and who, when last heard from, was a paroled prisoner, lying seriously ill at Wilmington, N. C.

A TIMID woman in Kansas City, whose husband was absent from home a few days ago, placed his pistol under her pillow. In the night she dreamed that burglars were in the house, and seizing the pistol attempted to shoot them. She was awakened with the noise and an ugly wound in her left arm.

IN Duplin county, North Carolina, a few days ago, a colored female servant administered poison to the whole family of Mr. Washington Carroll. Fortunately it acted as an emetic. The girl fled, and when arrested, confessed the offense, saying that she and Mrs. Carroll could not agree. She is lodged in jail at Krehan's Mill.

A NICE young man in Maury, Tenn., went to bed leaving a burning candle and a pistol on his table. The dripping sperm ignited the table, the table ignited the pistol, the barrels began to explode, and when the young man awoke he was nearly burned, smothered and shot to death. His pillow received the balls and saved his head.

"WHAT are you disturbing the whole house with your yells in this way for?" demanded a New Jersey landlord of a guest whom he found late at night seemingly in pursuit of invisible foes, and yelling at the top of his voice. "I'm shouting the battle-cry of fleadom," answered the guest, as he went ahead with his search and his yells.

A PATENT perpetual tobacco pipe has been made by a gentleman in Missouri, who doubtless has been often troubled to light his pipe in a high wind. His invention consists in making the bowl reversible, so that when a charge of tobacco is nearly smoked out the bowl may be charged again and then reversed, so that the fire may ignite the new charge.

THE locusts are making night hideous in the vicinity of Mquaoketa and Iowa City. The forests are full of them, and their numbers are daily increasing, while, of course, their ravages upon the foliage of the trees and bushes is fearful. It is said their constant noise is so great that the farmers of the localities where they most abound cannot hear the cow-bells of their cattle grazing among the timber.

THE Louisville Courier-Journal says: "The "writers" on the Chicago Post are all mad wags. If we accept the Philadelphia Ledger the Post is the most humorous (though not numerous) paper in America." Now what we want to know is, who has been offering the Philadelphia Ledger to our Kentucky friend, who talks of accepting it? If Mr. Childs wants to give it away he can find acceptors nearer home.

THE aggregate value in 1870 of the lands in Virginia, by counties, as just returned to the State Auditor, amounts to $277,820,897, against a valuation of $289,421,811 in the year 1856 exhibited a decrease of $11,600,924. The decrease, however, is not general, some counties showing an increase. Thus the increase in Norfolk county amounts to $3,023,239 and in Richmond county, partly by additions from Henrico to $6,982,412.

THERE is one paper published in a little Kentucky town down the river, that is becoming noted for its ignorance of ordinary orthography, and it says: Pitsburg is about to take a census of the remaing letters of her cognomen" We advise the brilliant writer of this scintillation to take the first senses he can find and to make haste about it, for the preceptor of the school for weak minded children has his eye on him.

THE Davenport Gazette says; "Among the men who pursued the robbers of the bank at Corydon, on the 3d inst., was a party of eight young men who were veterans of the Third Iowa Cavalry. It is now stated that the boys overtook the robbers in a piece of woods across the Missouri border, and that the thieves promised, on their bended knees, never to rob another bank as long as they lived. And they faithfully kept their promise to the end of their days!"

THE Shippensburg News says: One night last week John Maclay, aged six years, a son of Robert H. Maclay, of this place, whilst in a somnambulic state, jumped from a second story window of his father's residence to the ground, a distance of fifteen feet, without sustaining the least injury. Some of the family hearing something "drop" in the yard, went out and found him still asleep. With much difficulty he was awakened, and said that he had been dreaming of 'playing circus,' and made a leap with the above result.

THE amount of internal revenue collected thus far during the present fiscal year is at most $139,000,000, and the Commissioner estimates that it will amount to about $146,000,000 by the first of next month. This is $20,000,000 more than Mr. Delano estimated in his report last December, and shows an increase of about 16 per cent. in the business of the county from which internal revenue is derived. As the production of whisky has greatly fallen off, the increase in other branches must have been considerably greater.

IN the face of all the brutality and vandalism, the cruelty and cowardice, that have been enacted in and around Paris during the last few months, a writer in the Siecle has the assurance to say: "This city cannot perish, for it is France, and France is indispensable to the world. If Paris should disappear, humanity would no longer know whither she must tend, and we should fall back into the darkness of barbarism. But, in order that the work of regeneration may be accomplished, peace must be re-established in our breasts."

A MAJORITY of the State Senators in Pennsylvania who hold over this year are Democrats, consequently the Republicans cannot expect to obtain a majority in the Senate next winter. In the House, according to the new apportionment, made upon the vote of last year, the Republicans will have a majority of six only. This is pretty close calculation, and the Democrats profess to be able to spoil it. The canvass for members of the Legislature will be most interesting in many parts of the State, as the Legislature next winter will probably reapportion the State for Congressmen.

THE little Court Theatre at Versailles, which so many of our readers will remember, with its faded red upholstery and gilded roccoco ceiling, has been turned into a hall for the sessions of the National Assembly. Where once sat the patched and powdered Court ladies of Mme. de Pompadour, now is heard the drawling voice of the secretary, the fiery invective of the opposing orators, or the tinkle of the President's silver bell. If we could only hope that the dramas now performed there might be more rational or of more durable effect than the evanescent comedies which gave it its origin!

MANY druggists in New York city and Brooklyn, it is complained, are becoming venders of spirituous liquors by the dram, and the popularity of attractive drug stores in those cities on Sunday afternoons, it is stated, has long been a matter of surprise to the uninitiated. A recent decision, however, of the City Court in Brooklyn has put a stop to the traffic, unless where the druggist has taken out a regular license as a vender of wine and spirits. The prescription of two ounces of brandy, directed by a tippler for himself, it was held, could not be considered as coming within the regular business of a druggist.

THE Boston Transcript says: Three years ago a tour of the Rocky Mountains was undertaken by a private citizen in his own carriage. The journey, the most remarkable ever made by a lady, was accomplished a few days ago; and the authors, Mr. Z. M. Smith and his wife, returned to their home last week. They made with their own horse 12,000 miles, and over 30,000 by steam, saddle and in Indian canoes, visiting every mining camp and village from Montana to Mexico, at an expense of over $25,000, traversing nearly every canon, road or Indian trail. Their object has been to embody in lectures the result of their rich and varied experience.

THE Grape Growers of the United States, it is argued, follow the processes of the culture of the vine in Europe too closely. Thus the excessive pruning of the French vine districts, practiced here, it is believed, cripples seriously the productive power of the American grapes. A recent traveler through the vine-growing countries of Europe, after careful observation, resolved to vary the treatment and now raises his trellisses to the height of twelve feet, and trains his vines so as to produce the greatest fruitage at the top of the trellis. The result of this method showed that the elevation of the branches from the ground, and their greater exposure to the sun, secured the grapes from rot and mildew, while these diseases to a considerable extent affected the neighboring vines treated according to the old method.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp, 50.

BONDS at Frankfort, 96¼@96⅜.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 112¼@112⅜.

GEORGIA was in olden times always Democratic. There are sixty thousand white adults who cannot read there, and but few of the blacks are in better mental condition. Comment is unnecessary.

IOWA promises to do her full duty for the Republican party at the next general election. So will all her Republican neighbors. Everywhere the skies are bright and the promise great for Grant in 1872.

THE LOST CABLE of 1865 has been lifted and is now in good working order, thus affording three lines of telegraphic connection with the old world. The improved facilities now enjoyed by the Cable Company should induce the managers to establish a lower and more popular rate of tolls. One dollar a word is a little steep for the transmission of messages across the ocean.

INDIAN COMMISSIONER PARKER seems to be in very bad odor with a number of journals throughout the country. Very serious charges have been made in most positive terms against him in the administration of the affairs of his office. The charges should be closely examined into by the Government, as they are too direct and specific to be permitted to go unnoticed, and it is simply due to him that their truth or falsity should be at once made known.

THE OHIO REPUBLICANS have spoken out nobly and unequivocally in favor of protection to American industry. The third resolution which reads, "duties should be so adjusted as not to prejudice, but to promote the interests of every section and branch of industry as far as may be possible," has the right sound to it—the ring of the genuine metal. How different does it sound from the insipid and enigmatical declaration on the same vital subject made by the Democracy of our own State? The workingmen will readily discover on examination of the various platforms of principles where their true interests lie, and in whose keeping they can best be entrusted.

THE Emperor Don Pedro, of Brazil, and his wife, the Empress, are now on their travels, having in contemplation a tour of observation throughout Europe and the United States. Conjecture has been started as to what motive has induced Don Pedro at this critical moment in the affairs of Brazil, to temporarily abandon his throne and country for the apparent object of pleasure and observation. On one hand, it is asserted that he is in quest of health and relaxation from the arduous duties pertaining to the administration of Government, for crowns sit heavily on the heads of faithful sovereigns; but other accounts plainly insinuate that his present tour virtually means an abdication of his throne. Brazil is on the eve of a political agitation and crisis. One-fifth of the inhabitants are African slaves, and Don Pedro, a good and conscientious man, as well as a liberal minded sovereign, has long entertained the idea of general and immediate emancipation of all who groan in the chains of bondage. His great reform, of course, meets with the very decided opposition of the slave holders, the better part of whose wealth is locked in up in the ownership of flesh and blood, and while gradual emancipation might be favorably entertained by them, they are hostile and uncompromising against immediate emancipation. Don Pedro, however, a large slave holder himself, has resolved to precipitate the reform and to bring about freedom, and to set the example has arranged to manumit his own slaves during his absence. It is thought such action on his part will disturb the politics of Brazil and lead to open revolution, and hence, it is argued, the Emperor, fearful of meeting at home the consequences of the act, has gone abroad to await the passing away of the storm. We cannot believe the last assumption. The Emperor who dares to do right in the cause of humanity, must certainly be possessed with the requisite moral courage to face all of its consequences. He naturally wishes to see the outside world and to learn lessons from it, and besides he has relatives abroad and may be anxious to pay them a visit.

He is a progressive sovereign and we incline to think that he makes his present tour to acquaint himself with all the reforms and governmental workings of more advanced countries than his own, in order that he may rule more wisely and that his people may be made happier, more contented and prosperous.

OHIO REPUBLICANS.

The Republican State Convention, of Ohio, which met in Columbus on Wednesday, adopted a platform which cannot be misunderstood. It endorses the Administration of General Grant in the strongest terms, and also the State government of Governor Hayes. It is entirely free of all "clap-trap," which General McCook declares is a constant quantity in the platform upon which either he or Ewing, for it is an unsettled question which, was nominated for Governor by the Democracy of Ohio.

The nomination, by the Republicans of the Buckeye State on Wednesday, of General E. F. Noyes for the Governorship will meet with universal approval. It had been conceded for some time before the Convention met, that he would be the only candidate, as those old war-horses, Wade and Galloway, were unwilling to enter the lists against him, and indeed to accept the nomination at all. General E. F. Noyes is a native of the State of New Hampshire. He is only in the thirty-fifth year of his age, but has done good service in the cause of his country. In the year 1858 he removed from New Hampshire to Cincinnati, where he practiced law till the war broke out in 1861. In the summer of that year he organized a regiment and went into the military service of his country. It is said that he took part in every battle in which his command was engaged from July 1861, till the 4th of July, 1864, when he lost a leg during an action on the field. The following year he resigned his commission, and since that time has held the offices of City Solicitor in Cincinnati, and Probate Judge of Hamilton county. He is very popular in Ohio, as his nomination by acclamation abundantly testifies. The Democrats will no doubt denounce him as a "carpet-bagger," but we feel sure that he will bag either McCook or Ewing, which ever they may agree to run on their ticket.

He has the reputation of being an accomplished orator and a forcible speaker, and will no doubt walk over the track triumphantly. We congratulate the Republicans of Ohio on their choice, and the unanimity and harmony that characterized their Convention. Whilst the Democrats are disintegrating everywhere, the Republicans are forming in solid and invincible phalanx, and there never was a brighter prospect for a clean sweep, as the Democratic journals are unwillingly beginning to admit. But let there be no apathy or indifference anywhere. Every Republican owes it to himself and the country to buckle on his armor and wage the warfare with vigor.

THE POPE AND THE CAPITAL.

There are few cups of pleasure but have some alloy. There are few jubilations that are not mingled with sorrow. The whole Catholic world has been expressing during the past few days, in the loudest acclamations of joy, its unfeigned delight that Pius the Ninth has lived to see the twenty-fifth anniversary of his Pontificate. Even Protestants have not withheld their expressions of admiration for the eminent virtues which have adorned the life of the "Holy Father," who, in the ordinary course of things, must soon pass from the scenes of time to the realities of an unseen world. Crowned heads in Europe, irrespective of religious faith, have sent notes and telegrams of congratulation to the Palace of the Vatican at Rome, and testified their high regard for the man who has been privileged to occupy the Papal chair for a longer term of years than any of the more than two hundred and fifty Pontiffs who have preceded him. The voice of jubilation has been loud during the past few days in every country almost on the face of the globe, and it might seem from outside indications that there is nothing to disturb the repose of Pius the Ninth, or render his position as head of the Catholic Church uneasy.

But there is trembling mingled with all this joy. Victor Emanuel has notified the great ruling powers of the world, that on the first day of July next he will transfer the seat of the Italian government to Rome, and from that date will issue his royal mandates from the city of the Cæsars. This determination meets with the approval of most of the governments of the world, and it is likely all of them will, in due time, recognize the transfer. Already, some of them have issued instructions to their representatives at the court of King Victor to remove to Rome at the time appointed.

The Pope, relying perhaps on the aid and co-operation of the Catholic powers of Europe to enable him to maintain his position, refuses to accept any of the liberal terms which have been offered him by the King of Italy. He declares that nothing can induce him to relinquish his temporal power in the Eternal City. He announces he will accept nothing "which, under color of securing our sacred power and liberty, may be offered to us in lieu and in derogation of that civil princedom by which Divine Providence has willed that the Holy Apostolic See should be secured and dignified, and possession of which is confirmed to us by the most legitimate and indisputable titles, and by a prescription of more than eleven centuries of possession."

From this it appears that the Sovereign Pontiff claims to hold his civil princedom, equally with his spiritual control, by a divine right, and therefore announces his most solemn resolution never to "admit or accept under any circumstances those guarantees framed by the Subalpine government, whatever may be their purport, or any other enactments of whatever kind or in whatever manner passed," that would involve a surrender of his temporal power.

In other circumstances than those that now exist, such a bold determination might be followed by serious consequences. But the assurances are that the transfer of the seat of government from Florence to Rome will not produce bloodshed. Even the Catholic powers of Europe approve of the movement. Letters have been presented to the French Assembly, written by high dignitaries of the Catholic Church, in which a "demand" is made, that France shall resume a protectorate over Rome. But poor France, riven into fragments, bleeding at every pore from the violence of internal discord, humiliated by Prussia, and disgraced before the world is unable to yield protection to any one. Count Chambord, if elevated to the French throne, a matter which is for future consideration, might attempt to restore the Pope to his temporal dignity, or Louis Napoleon, if re-called to the Tuileries might essay to resume his protectorate over the Papal See; but neither Bourbon, nor Bonapartist will be able for many years to come to extend aid or protection to any power, or to any system. Besides, the French Minister has received orders to remove from the Arno to the Tiber as soon as Victor Emanuel shall decide to transfer the seat of his government from the banks of the one to those of the other.

Austria will not interpose any objections to the transfer. Twenty-two Austrian bishops have sent a petition to Francis Joseph requesting him to favor the re-establishment of the Papal power at Rome. But he has returned no answer to the petition, and if he should see fit to return an answer, Buest will counsel him to return it in a negative form. But Austria, several weeks ago, instructed her Minister to congratulate Emanuel as soon as he ascends the Italian throne in Rome.

The governments of Russia, Prussia, England and the United States, have also instructed their representatives to move to the banks of the Tiber as soon as the Italian Court is transferred thither. Here there is a moral force which it would be foolishness on the part of the Pope to disregard. The recognition by these governments of the right of Emanuel to make Rome the capital of Italy, will greatly augment his power, and should act as a preventive to the Pope giving either moral or physical resistance, the latter of which we suppose, he does not contemplate, because it would be sheer madness on his part to do so.

The transfer of the seat of Pontifical rule to Corsica or any other place, would neither strengthen the Popedom, nor inure to the welfare of Italy. It would engender a feeling of hostility that would, in all probability, culminate in serious disaster to both. The transfer of the Pontifical Court to Corsica, which is under the dominion of France, and the abandonment of Rome, would take away from the Catholic church all the glory of its traditions, and be an eclipsement of its past history.

It is a number of years since the Italian Parliament decreed that Rome should be the National Capital. That decree is about to be carried into effect, come weal or come woe, and it is not for the interest of the Catholic Church (of which we are by no means the champion or the protector, as we are not the champion or protector of any church) to resist its execution. We believe that every church, by whatever named called, has the right to worship God according to the dictates of its own conscience, and we have no objection to the Pope directing the spiritual affairs of that ecclesiastical organization which acknowledges him as its temporal head, in any locality that he may choose. But as the spiritual leader of a large portion of the inhabitants of the world, we do not think it would be becoming his sacred functions to pursue a course that would engender dissensions, and might probably lead to bloodshed. If, as many good Catholics believe, the loss of his temporal does not in any way impair his spiritual power, he should be content to exercise the latter on the Seven Hills during the remainder of his years, which are now drawing near their close. If, as some believe, and all Catholics do, Pius is the successor of Peter, his position as a subject of the King of Italy will not be so degrading as was that of the impulsive Apostle under Cæsar. Peter had to pay tribute to his imperial master, but Pius has been offered liberal subsidies by the King of Italy. Peter occupied no temporal throne, and we cannot see how the destruction of the Pope's princely power as a civil ruler could in any way compromise his spiritual independence. Moreover, a more exalted head than either Peter or Pius acknowledged his subjection to the temporal Cæsar. The Great Head of all Christian denominations taught his followers to act the part of good citizens and pay their taxes promptly and willingly. His injunction was, "Render unto Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's, but unto God the things that are God's," yet no one thinks that Christ compromised his spiritual independence by acknowledging his subjection to Cæsar. The position occupied by the Savior, as a subject to the ruling power, should not be viewed as degrading to Pius, whose purity and sincerity have commanded the admiration not only of his own liege subjects, but also of Protestants who have no faith in most of the doctrines of which he is acknowledged to be, by the great majority of his own church, the authoritative and infallible expounder.

BRIDAL TOURS.

Wedding Bells—June Roses and Orange Blossoms—An Old Superstition.

[A friend of ours, who recently put his neck into the hymenial noose, remarked after he returned home from an extensive bridal tour that there would be "more marriages if the confounded and foolish practice of going abroad, with your bride as a certificate, to advertise to the world that you are just wedded, was abandoned." He did not like the trip, because "it was embarrassing to be watched in every movement by the curious, and to overhear sly remarks on all sides at his own and blushing bride's expense." We don't know how it is ourself, but the correspondent of the Boston Post has studied the subject from the Niagara Falls standpoint, and here is what he says in his gossippy letter]:

"Say, dearest, shall it be Niagara?"

The May moon smiled benignantly down on the hundreds of impatient, agitated couples who a month ago were asking and answering this same question the entire country over. Its rays streamed through plate glass windows, drawing on tapestried floors arabesque figures of the lace curtains, in whose friendly shadow the romantic young love-makers lingered. The one important question of all was settled, the bridal day appointed and the clergyman notified. The Prayer Book was the volume most in demand, and the Marriage Service was studied until it was learned by heart. There was posing before full-length mirrors, and a semi-weekly rehearsal of the service, so that when the time came there may be no mistakes or gaucherie. The feminine friends were in a flutter of expectancy and delight. The trousseau was nearly completed. Piles of mysterious combinations of linen, lace, cambric and embroidery were folded carefully and laid away, filling every available drawer, and waiting the final transfer to the Saratoga trunks, on whose fresh canvas covers the new initials were marked. The upper chambers grew every day more like a fashionable modiste's reception parlor, while libraries and drawing rooms might have naturally, from their contents, been mistaken for a jeweler's and silversmith's establishment. One thing alone remained to settle—where to go for a bridal tour, and that momentous question was decided at that moonlight tete-a-tete in the window.

MARRIAGE BELLS.

As the time approached there was a visible impatience in the lover's manner, and he would have hastened the day had it lain in his power to do so. But there is an old superstition clinging to the world, especially to the marriageable part of it, that, even in the midst of the scepticism of these modern times, makes love-lorn swains and maidens shun the month of May. Though it is in the spring that "a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," yet the old proverb persistently stares the most ardent lover in the face, and constantly assures him that and there are few that are courageous enough to brave that ban. So there must needs be patient waiting until the thirty-one fatal days are past. Then it is that the odor of orange blossoms mingles with the perfume of June roses; that the sheen of silk and shimmer of satin, the gleaming of jewels and sparkling of precious gems changes, as if by magic, the sombre solemnity of churches into one glow of beauty and vivacious life. Through flower-strewn aisles peal the organ tones of the triumphant "Wedding March," and the air is filled with the jubilant ringing of silver marriage bells, and the whole country is thronged with these happy, self-absorbed pairs. They are to be seen everywhere; on the steamers, in railway trains, at all the hotels. They never can be mistaken; their new happiness is written on all their faces. They are learning the old story that yet is always sweet and new and strange, and will be just so long as the world stands. And no matter how much they may delude themselves into the belief that they are cheating the world and hiding the truth, they are constantly betraying the novelty of the situation. Already there have been over a hundred of these vagrant couples at the International alone, while the Clifton and the Cataract have also had their share. Every train, from whatever direction it comes, brings more, and Niagara echoes to the cooing of these turtle doves. Respect for their rights keeps the rest of the world away, and so they have a clear field, for by a sort of tacit undertanding the season proper does not commence until June is well over.

THE ARRIVALS.

There is an indiscribable fascination to the mere looker-on in watching the omnibus as it drives up from the station on the arrival of the different trains. The bridegroom of a day jumps unconcernedly out and with a new sense of importance assists the bride to alight. He bustles around looking after wraps and travelling-bags in as business-like manner as though his principal occupation during his whole life had been the care of a lady's baggage. Entering the house, he airily waves her into the ladies' parlor and walks to the office to register their names, with a manner intended to impress people with the idea that he has been very much in the habit of doing that same thing for a long time. Their self-delusion is respected, and there is nothing in the clerk's countenance or address as he assigns the room and sends the waiter to pilot the way that would betray his consciousness of the utter failure of the attempted deception. The very prettiest rooms in the house are assigned to them, and they are treated with a marked consideration that is shown to no one else. The waiters beam upon them benevolently and assume a protecting half-confidential air that is indescribably touching, while the head hoverd around like an olive-compexioned guardian angel, watching with a sentimental glance and as tender an expression as a young lover's when he surveys the special object of his adoration. The very porters handle the luggage tenderly and considerately—the newest of all trunks, the clean canvass showing how little experience they have had as yet traveling. Underneath these lids are strapped neatly down are all these multitudes of things that have cost months of study and labor to bring to their poetic completion. Wonderful little nondescripts whose earthly use no one but a woman can ever learn. The jaunty little breakfast caps of lace that will set so cunningly on the top of the frizzes and curls that deck the young wife's head. Miracles of art in dainty embroidered jackets, and rainbow bow combination of bows, sashes. A shadow of a blush comes to her cheek as her new name stares her in the face from the porter's shoulder, where her trunk is mounted, and the least touch of conscious dignity is visible in her carriage. The Russia leather traveling bag is just as evidently on its first journey, and the odor of the shop is not yet out of the pretty gray traveling shawl, which is so daintily and neatly folded and strapped, showing the touch of interested femine fingers in its precise arrangement. And all the while the bridegroom is growing more nonchalant an unconcerned, quite overdoing the character, and the bride is shyer and more constrained, looking up to her husband and trying to catch some of his assumed ease and assurance, evidently relieved enough when the door of her room closes behind her, shutting her away from the eyes that will follow her mercilessly, studying her face and general style, and comparing her with those who have proceeded her.

THE HOTEL REGISTER.

This same register is a sad tell-tale. Were there no other means of finding out the newly-wedded pairs, this would betray them. The masculine name is written with the usual careless flourish, indicating habit, but in the words that follow, "and wife," there is a noticeable change. The pen has lingered over them and they are written with a care and precision and plainness that cannot be mistaken—with the least bit of akwardness too. Page after page of these names are recorded, and all in the same peculiar manner. It is a sort of idiosyncrasy of these newly-made husbands to write in every register Mr. So and So and wife, while those to whom marriage is an old story, whose romance years had dimmed, are entered in the most matter-of-fact way, Mr. and Mrs. Such an One. This is the evidence of experienced hotel proprietors and clerks.

SOME OF THE BRIDE.

Alike, yet with a decided difference. The feature in common is that they all look very new. The travelling suits are fresh; the charming cambric morning robes have never been donned before; the silks and Hernadis are elaborately made in the very latest fashion, and the sets of Roman gold which every bride wears, without one single exception, so far, are of the last imported pattern, and show by the lustre and brightness how very recently they left the jeweler's. There has been the shyest, sweetest bride staying here for several days. She is an English girl with the bluest of eyes and fairest of brown hair. Just such a girl as the Scotch people would call "bonny." There is not so much of beauty in her face as of purity and sweet femininity. Her skin is as soft and clear as a child's and the faint color comes and goes in her cheek the merest tinge, like the pink in the heart of a blush rose. Her dress is like her face, fresh, cool and refined. She evidently has a preference for neutral. Last night she had on a dress of some soft gray material, the lower skirt flowing over into a graceful train. The over dress, caught carelessly up, formed a sort of panier. The close fitting body was finished at the throat with a collar of Valenciennes lace, fastened with a knot of pale blue ribbon. Her very simplicity made her one of the most elegant and attractive women here. This morning she came to breakfast dressed for a walk, in a dainty cambric with the narrowest of black strips running through it. It was very plainly made, without the least bit of trimming on either skirt, pleated with waist and full sleeves tight at the wrist, with narrow linnen collar and cuffs, and a knot of rose colored ribbon on her throat and in her hair. Her hat was of white Leghorn with a band of black velvet passing around the crown, and fastened with a bunch of white field daiseies. Her husband, a splendid specimen of Saxon manhood, is evidently very fond and proud of her, and she, in turn, regards him as a very near approach to absolute perfection. Each bride has a way of looking up and down the tables, critically scanning all the other brides' husbands, and returning at last to her own with an expression of unbounded satisfaction, and the English bride was no exception to the rule. At the same table sat another couple, new-comers by the early morning train. This one was a bright sparkling brunette, with mischievous black eyes, and dark hair looped in heavy braids at the back, and rolled from her face in a smooth high Pompadour. Her travelling dress was of buff linen, over an under dress of black silk. It was trimmed with broad bias bands, edged with pipings of black, and a black silk tie fastened the linen collar. She whs as vivacious and fresh as though she had not been travelling all night, and her busy tongue kept up a perpetual chatter, to the evident amusement of her husband, a good-looking, indolent mannered fellow, who seemed quite willing that she should monopolize the conversation, while he applied himself to eating, for which he had developed an alarming appetite. She had none of the shyness and reserve which characterized her English neighbor, whose blue eyes opened wide with amusement and astonishment on the cheery newcomer, whose brightness and geniality changed the dull routine of breakfast into something like sparkle and enjoyment, though she had eyes nor tongue for none except the man whom she was endeavoring so successfully to amuse and entertain. Her utter self-possession and indifference to all around her made her doubly charming and the perfect contrast of the two brides who were such near neighbors, made each other more beautiful in her own peculiar way. It was an artistic sense that made the head waiter choose these positions, and the looker-on have him to thank for one of the prettiest pictures that ever had been seen in the dining room of any hotel.

POLITICAL.

ROBERT TOOMBS said, during a recent speech, "Some people call it Ku Klux; I call it wild justice."

IT is reported that the Central Democratic Committee of Tennessee proposes to call a conference of Southern politicians, to meet at Nashville during the comming summer, to consider the political situation, and to determine their most advantageous course of action.

A CRIPPLED soldier, who used to vote the Democratic ticket before the war, but who ceased to do so after he donned the army blue, hearing of the "new departure," asked to see the platform. He read it and remarked, "That is the voice of Jacob, but the hand is the hand of Esau."

THE Richmond Whig indorses the views of Jacob Thompson and Gen. Forrest, that it would be politic for the South to refrain from sending delegates to the National Democratic Convention. The Macon (Ga.) Telegraph and Messenger also seems inclined to look upon the idea with favor, but the Petersburg (Va.) Index condemns it.

WITH wonderous magnanimity the Cincinnati Gazette comes to the relief of its political enemies in their sad dilemma. It suggests that Gen. Ewing resign his right to the Democratic nomination for Governor in favor of Gen. McCook, and receive, in consideration therefor, the Senatorship, in case the Democracy carry the Legislature.

ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS has bought an interest in the Atlanta (Ga.) Sun, and it is announced therein that its political department will hereafter be conducted "under his advisement, direction and general control." To commence with, it proclaims that it will stand by honest principle, and oppose damaging time-serving measures.

THE Mobile Register wants the Democrats to nominate General Hancock for President. It is not in favor of military Presidents, but this time it fears that the North may follow the example of the South, and rebel if a Democratic President is elected. "If," says the Register, "there is a prospect for a struggle after the Presidential votes are counted, Hancock is the man."

HERE is a little figure of speech from the Richmond Enquirer of yesterday: "In social and political matters, many seek to gratify their spiteful feelings under an unpleasant environment by nursing the illusion that Obstinacy is Principle. The course of the world does not suit them, and they refuse to submit to it: and they call their kicking against the sides of the iron leviathan which plows the great ocean of history—Principle."

SPEAKING of one Jefferson Davis, the Montgomery (Ala.) Mail says: "The Southern gentleman needs no watching, for the whole world could not induce him to pass one hair's breadth beyond any obligation he may have assumed, express or implied." Let us see. Was Jefferson Davis the name of a man who several times took an oath to protect and defend the Constitution of the United States? and if so, did he assume any obilgation, "express or implied?"

THE "Union Republican Party" of Maryland, composed of men who supported the Republican party during the war, but who have a part of the time since acted with the Democrats, have held a convention to recommend a union of the Republicans upon a Conservative platform. They have presented a ticket for acceptance by the Republican Convention, as follows: For Governor, Jacob Tome; for Attorney General, George A. Pearce; for Comptroller, J. Henry Sellman. The regular Republican State Convention has not yet been called.

THE San Francisco Chronicle of June 3, says: "The friends of Governor Haight admit that instead of paying $560 out of his own poekct for a monument to the memory of Senator Burnett, he transferred that amount from the secret service fund of the State Treasury, contrary to law. Yesterday's Sacramento Bee makes another damaging charge against His Excellency. It will be remembered that the Legislature refused to pay Neuman, the silk manufacturer, for the flag made by him and donated to the State. Governor Haight commiserated with the impecunious silk-grower, and headed a subscription for his relief with $1,000. Instead of paying the amount out of his own pocket, the Bee says he appropriated it out of the secret service fund of the State.

DEAFNESS.

There are many diseases of the ear which are now as remediable as of any other part of the body, and we cannot but be amazed that people would neglect so important an organ as that of hearing, especially when the means of cure are so readily obtainable. Apart from what passes as hard-hearing and total deafness, there are other disagreeable sensations peculiar to the organ of hearing which are completely within the reach of chirurgical skill and can be entirely removed; among these may be classed purulent discharges, buzzing, singing like the sound of a teakettle, grasshoppers, spindles, &c. These sounds are frequently, if not always, the precursors of some unnatural state of the organ of hearing, or probably of some other physical ailment which, if removed, the other will pass off with the removal of the cause. Discharges of matter from the ear are usually the result of some ulcerations or abrasion of the surface of the internal ear, and it is frequently attended with deafness or at least impaired hearing, which, if neglected, will soon end in total loss of hearing.

Dr. Keyser, of this city, has an office in the rear of his great medicine store, 167 Liberty street, for the treatment of all such cases, as well as a large class of chronic maladies to which it were difficult to give a name. The Doctor has investigated chronic ailments with more than ordinary industry, and the cases of cures which he has published now and again, place his ability in the vantage grounds as regards chronic diseases of every sort.

VALUABLE HINTS.

A regular habit of body is absolutely essential to physical health and clearness of intellect. Nor is this all. Beauty of person cannot co-exist with an unnatural condition of the bowels. A free passage of the refuse matter of the system through these natural waste pipes is as necessary to the purity of the body as the free passage of the offal of a city through its sewers is necessary to the health of its inhabitants.

Indigestion is the primary cause of most of the diseases of the discharging organs and one of its most common results is constipation. This complaint, besides being dangerous in itself, has many di-agreeable concomitants—such as an unpleasant breath, a sallow skin, contaminating blood and bile, hemorrhoids, headache, loss of memory and general debility.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters remove all these evils by removing their immediate cause in the digestive organs and regulating the action of the intestines. The combination of properties in this celebrated preparation is one of its chief merits. It is not merely a stimulant or a tonic, or an antibilious agent, or a nervine, or a blood depurent, or a cathartic, but all these curative elements, judiciously blended in one powerful restorative. It lends activity and vigor to the inert and enervated stomach relieves the alimentary canal of its obstructions, and gives tone to the membrane which lines it, gently stimulates the liver, braces the nerves and cheers the animal spirits. No other remedy possesses such a variety of hygienic virtues. It is to these characteristics that it owes its prestige as a household medicine. Experience has proved that it is as harmless as it is efficacious, and hence it is as popular with the weaker sex as with the stronger.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are sold in bottles only, and the trade-mark blown in the glass and engraved on the label, is the test of genuineness. Beware of counterfeits.

Gold dull at 112⅜@12½. In the morning from 1-64 of one per cent. per day to one per cent. per annum was paid for use, and in the afternoon from one to four per cent. for carrying. Clearances $43,200,000. Governments dull and steady. The disastrous break in Rock Island yesterday, has left affairs at the stock exchange, in a very unsettled condition; none of this stock was sold under the rule; about 50,000 shares in all have been sold in this way. The stock market opened feverish and excited, with large transactions. The Bears sold largely, and a sharp decline in prices occurred; but New York Central, Lake Shore, Western Union, Ohio and Union Pacific revived the moment the Bears stopped offering them down. Short interest is heavy. The market closed strong, with a better feeling. Money more active, at 4@5 per cent. State bonds neglected and prices somewhat lower. Mr. Woodward was interviewed to-day, and said that the ring really held but sixty thousand shares, while he, at his own individual risk, held the remaining two hundred thousand. But he said the entire amount was under his control, and that he had fifty more shares to his credit than were in the market. He had been promised a loan of a certain amount of money yesterday, and counting on that, had bought heavily on the preceding day. The money was not forthcoming, and therefore he failed. This was the cause of the entire panic. Who the other gentlemen interested in the pool were, Mr. Woodward declined to give any information. As to the extent of the failure, he said it might amount to twenty million dollars, but no definite idea of the situation could yet be given.

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

ASHES—Common Soda Ash, 4⅜@4⅜; refined do, 4⅜@4⅜; Pearls, 8⅜@9; Pots, 7⅜@7⅜.

BUTTER—There is a continued steady demand for strictly prime, but no further advance in prices, 19@20c—nothing but choice in small packages will command the outside quotation. Fair to medium 14@16c, and the demand for these grades is only moderate.

BEANS—Stock light and mainly of an inferior quality; we continue to quote at $1,50@2 per bushel, the outside figure for prime navy.

BEESWAX—Is scarce and may be quoted firm at 35@38.

BROOM CORN—Continues very dull though there is no quotable change to make in quotations, 4⅜@6⅜ cts per lb.

CEMENT—Louisville, $2,50@2,75 per bbl. Rosendale, $4,00@4,50; Calcined Plaster, $4,25@4,50.

CANNED GOODS—Tomatoes in good demand and standard brands are selling readily at $2⅜. Peaches, particularly 3 lb cans, more active with sales at $3,25@3,50; 2 lb cans dull at $2@2,25. Winslow's Corn, $2,50.

CHEESE—Continues to come in pretty freely and while the supply is in excess of present requirements prices are still maintained, prime Goshen, 15c; prime Factory, 12@12½; Dairy, 10@11c.

COUNTRY BACON—The receipts have fallen off somewhat within the past few days, but there is no improvement in the demand and scarcely enough doing to establish quotations. Country Lard nominal at 9@10c.

CORN MEAL—The demand is light and restricted mainly to small lots while prices are unchanged, 80@85 cts per bushel.

CARBON OIL—Standard brands, in a jobbing way, 23½—usual advance for small lots. Demand light and prices drooping.

EGGS—The reports in regard to the egg market were rather conflicting; there is no material improvement in the demand but with diminished receipts and a reduced supply, prices are tending upward—sales reported to-day at 18@20c—as yet it would seem but few sales have been made above the inside quotation.

FRUITS—Green apples are coming in quite freely and we can report sales at $5@7 per bbl, for fair to choice. Dried Fruit dull and out of season. Turkey Prunes, 10c; French, 12@12⅜; Layer Raisins, $3,00 per box; Valencia, 12⅜@15 cts per lb. Oranges and Lemons, $7,00@7.50 per box—repacked. Currants, 10 cts.

FLOUR—Is dull the probability of lower prices having cut down the demand somewhat and dealers generally are more anxious to realize, though as yet there is no quotable decline. We continue to quote good spring extras at $7,25; choice Minnesota baker's flour, $7,40; and good to choice red winter wheat, $7,25@7.50. Both Cincinnati and Chicago continue dull and weak, and a still further decline is expected in both of these markets; it is well enough to note, however, that our market has been too low for some time past, as compared with the west, the competition between dealers and millers being so strong that the one was afraid to put up prices, being apprehensive of being undersold by the other.

GRAIN—There is not much really new or important to be said in regard to the wheat market; the offerings continue very meagre, the great bulk of the receipts being consigned to the mills, and with a diminished demand, the market is easier and prices weak; quotations may be fairly given at $1,40@1,45 for red and $1,50@1,55 for white—nothing but strictly No. 1 will command the outside quotation. It is said that the offerings from Ohio have largely increased within the past week, while in this locality the country seems to be pretty well drained. Oats, coming in more freely, but, in view of the fact that the coming crop will be a light one, there is no disposition on the part of holders to make concessions in order to effect sales; we continue to quote at 60@62 buying and 63@64 selling—small sales, in store, 66@68. The receipts of Corn have fallen off somewhat, and, in consequence, the market is a shade steadier, but there is no change whatever to make in quotations; mixed ear, in bulk, 65@66; prime yellow, 68; mixed shelled, 67@68, in bulk, and prime yellow 70—we are reported sales of sacked at 72. Rye is quiet and unchanged: small lots, $1, and a round lot, $1,03@1,05.

GROCERIES—The market with the exception of Sugars, for which there is a fair demand, is dull and it is not likely that there will be any material improvement until after harvest. There are but comparatively few orders coming in from the country, as most of the country merchants are pretty well stocked. There is no change to make in quotations.

COFFEE—Fancy Rio, 18⅜; Prime, 17⅜; Good, 16⅜; Fair, 16; Roasting, 15⅜@16.

SYRUPS AND DRIPS—White Honey, 72; Havemyer & Elders, 72; Silver Drips, 60; other grades, 45@55.

SUGARS—Choice New Orleans, 11⅜; prime, 11⅜ good, 10⅜; fully fair, 10⅜; Porto Rico Sugars, 10⅜@11⅜; Cuba, 10@11; Demarara, 11⅜@12⅜.

MOLASSES—New Orleans, choice, 70; prime, 68; good, 65.

TEAS—Fancy Young Hyson, $1 40; Good, $1 10; Fair, $1. Lower grades down to 70cts. G. P. Fancy, $1 50; good, $1 25; fair, $1 10; Imperial Fancy, $1 40; good, $1 25; fair, $1; Oolong fancy, $1 25; good, 80cts; fair, 60@70c; Souchong fancy, $1 20; good, 90c; fair, 70@80c, Japan Fancy, $1; good, 90c; fair, 75c.

RICE—Choice Carolina, 10c; prime, 9⅜c; good, 9c.

SPICES—Grain Pepper, 22c. Pimento, 17c. Cloves, 20c. Cassia, 55c.

HAY—Continues very scarce and the recent advance is still maintained; baled is selling readily on wharf at $25, for anything that is good.

HIDES—Green Salted, 10⅜@11⅜; Green Butcher's, 8; Dry Flint, 21@22; Green Calf Skins, 14@15; Green Salted Calf, 17@18.

HUSKS—Quoted at 2⅜@2⅜ cts.

HEMP—Rough Kentucky, $175 per ton; dressed, 14 cts per lb.

LIME—Sales of Cleveland at $2,25 per bbl and eastern at $1.75.

MILL FEED—Is quiet and unchanged; recent sales of Middlings, by the car load, at $1.70@1.75.

OILS—Lard Oil is still quoted at 75 for No. 1 extra—78@80 in a small way.

PEA NUTS—Quoted at 10⅜@11 cts.

POULTRY—Offerings of chickens small, though there is no advance in prices; 70@75 cts per pair by the coop.

POTATOES—Sales of prime Lake Shore Peach Blows at $1,20@1,25 per bushel. New Potatoes, $7@8 per bbl and firm and scarce.

PROVISIONS—There is a very good jobbing demand at quotations, particularly for sugar cured shoulders and hams. Plain shoulders, 7@7⅜; sugar cured do, 10@10⅜; sides, 9 for ribbed and 10 for clear; Breakfast Bacon, 13; Hams, 14⅜@15. Lard, 11 in tcs and 12 in kegs. Mess Pork, $16.50@17.00. Dried Beef, 18@19.

SEEDS—There is nothing doing in seeds. Flaxseed would sell but there is none offering.

SUMAC—Sales Tennessee Sumac at 4⅜ cts.

WILLOWS—Sales Kentucky willows at 10.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

The oil market continues very quiet and devoid of any new or important characteristics worthy of special notice. Crude is firmer, both here and above, though there is but comparatively little doing, as both refiners and shorts seem unwilling to buy at present prices—both are asking for concessions, while the producers, instead of making concessions, are insisting on a still further advance. Refined, on the other hand, is weak and drooping, and withal very dull, and there seems to be but little prospect at present of any immediate improvement. Advices from the east report that exporters are doing little or nothing in the way of buying, and, with continued heavy shipments, it is reasonable to infer that stocks at the seaboard are increasing, and to this may be attributed the stagnation which prevailed in the refined market for a week or more past.

CRUDE.

PITTSBURGH WOOL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, June 22, 1870.

We have to note continued activity in the wool market with firm and advancing prices. The great bulk of the clip has already passed out of first hands and what little remains is being cleaned up at high prices. We cannot say that much discrimination has been made by buyers in their purchases, the large number of buyers in the field, and the great competition existing, prevented them from exercising the care in selecting the lighter and rejecting the badly conditioned wool, that should be done; nor do we notice any particular difference being paid for different qualities, unless for fancy clips, which brought outside prices—all the grades of medium and fine fleece realizing 50c and afterwards advancing to 53@55c. As the entire clip of the country cannot be consumed for a good while to come, it remains to be seen whether these high prices will be maintained throughout the year, and afford a margin of profit to the dealer. We do not look for any further advance to be paid to the grower, in fact, nearly all purchasers having filled their orders, it is probable that the clips left over may be purchased at easier figures. We quote prices as follows:

| Common and medium fleece | 47@50 |
| Fine fleece | 50@53 |
| Fancy clips | 55 |
| Tub washed and combing fleece | 50@55 |
| Unwashed | 30@35 |

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Business generally is inert among the dry goods trade, yet prices are held with increased firmness owing to the light stocks offering and the extreme prices prevalent for raw materials. ## RIVER NEWS.

The river is again falling, and all hopes of a June rise have vanished. The weather is unsettled, threatening rain at times, but as already intimated, the prospects for water are not encouraging.

No arrivals or departures excepting the Monongahela river packets, and business at the main landing is almost suspended.

Following boats are in port: Juniata, Arlington, Messenger, Lorena, Brill, and Belle Rowland.

The Great Rebublic is laid up at St. Louis. Capts. Morrison and Thorwegan deny the report that she is soon to change hands.

—The Nashville Union and American says: "Walter McFarland, United States Engineer, has been assigned to duty as superintendent of the improvement of the Tennessee river, with headquarters at Huntsville. He is now in Chattanooga fitting out a surveying party of twenty men for the improvement of the Tennessee river. They will survey the canal route around Muscle Shoals from Brown's ferry to Florence. They started down the river on the expedition yesterday morning, having two flats fitted out for the expedition. Mr. M. is assisted in the work by Lieutenants J. F. Gregory and Benj. D. Green, of the Engineer Corps. Besides the work on the Tennessee the party is charged with the duty of surveying a canal connecting the Tennessee river at Guntersville with Coosa near Gadsden, a project which was urged in the last Commercial Convention, and for the survey of which a Congressional appropriation of $16,000 has been made.

—We clip the following from the Vicksburg Herald: The Henry Ames lay at the wharf all day repairing damages to her wheel. Coming down, night before last, she had the misfortune to collide with the towboat J. S. McDonald, also on her way down, with a heavy tow of barges. The Ames overtook the McDonald coming through a bend just below Dockport, and blew her whistle to pass. The McDonald made the proper reponse, and commenced backing to keep her tow off the bank. In executing her rear movement she got under such sternway that the Ames was unable to avoid her without running on the bar on the other side. The stern of the McDonald struck the Ames square on the wheel, breaking the gallows frame and completely disabling it. No damage was done to the McDonald.

—The St. Louis Democrat says: It has been stated by some paper knowing no better, that the steamer Dan. G. Taylor, which ran in the St. Louis and New Orleans trade some years ago, and burned at Louisville, was a failure. This is a flat mistake, as her various owners and clerks know. We think that Sam. Entrikin, while he was clerk on her, found that her profits amounted to seventy thousand dollars. Wm. Fitzgerald, and subsequently John Fitzgerald, owned an interest in her, and both found her a very profitable investment. The Taylor was not a handsome boat, but she was far from being a failure.

—The New Orleans Republican, of Sunday, says: Business on the levee still continues very dull, and with but little prospect of improvement. The principal feature was the discharge of the steamers, which was but trifling, to say the least. The outgoing steamers had very poor trips, and much grumbling was exhibited in consequence. Steamboatmen feel very much depressed at the state of the times at present, and many show a disposition to go to the shore and lay up until times get better.

—O'Neal & Co., merchants of Louisville, recently brought suit against W. L. Murphy & Co., in the Common Pleas Court, for a barge of coal supposed to have been sunk one night last winter by the ice. On Saturday the case was disposed of, the court rendering a verdict in favor of defendants. Since the decision of the court O'Neal & Co. have made diligent search in the vicinity where the barge is said to have sunk, but no trace of it can be found. The question arises, if the barge was not sunk, where can it be?

—We clip the following from the Cincinnati Chronicle of Wednesday: The Belle with a tow of barges loaded with iron ore arrived from St. Louis this morning, and will probably leave for above to-morrow morning. The Baltic arrived with a tow of barges loaded with iron ore, and leaving them returned this morning for other barges which she had left at Louisville.

—Collamb & Co., of New Orleans, are the owners of the bar of the Katie. They paid for it $27,000, securing it for all the life time of the boat. We believe that is the largest amount ever paid for the bar of a steamer, and it is quite improbable that so much will ever again be paid for a steamboat bar.

—Latest from the towboat Petrel, lately sunk, is that her case is doubtful, the bell-boat having failed to reach her. The sand under her bow washing out, causing her to settle considerably.

—Capt. J. T. Daddow has purchased the Mule, a Kanawha River steamboat, and is now running her in connection with the Mocking Bird in the Brownstown trade.

—The towboat Petrel, which sank last week thirty-five miles below St. Louis, has broken in two.

CONSUMPTION.

Its Cure and its Preventive.

BY J. H. SCHENCK, M.D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proven means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-assuring, self-convincing.

The Sea-weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionary disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbification of the liver. Here then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but, unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucuous deposits in the bowels and the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Sea-weed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature can not be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings, it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country, in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of the blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then, like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time.

"As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since.

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them. First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone for ever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylacteric against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Sea-weed Tonic $1 50 a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers. apl8:p3-MWF

STOVE AND GRATE.

Which Stand Without a Rival.

The WELLMAN STOVE is furnished with the "REFLECTOR GRATE," and possesses all the advantages of an open fire place; it is specially adapted to houses where the flues are too small to admit a grate, and affords all the comforts of a CHEERFUL OPEN FIRE.

1st. As a radiator of heat it has double the intensity of any other grate.

2d. It is unquestionably the most cleanly—no soot or ashes escaping into the room—which, in the ordinary Grate, proves so detrimental to carpets and furniture.

3d. The combustion is perfect. There is no waste in unburnt cinders—every ounce of the fuel is so completely consumed, that nothing remains but the finest ashes.

4th. As an economizer of fuel—there being an actual saving of at least 25 per cent.

5th. It is highly ornamental.

6th. It is set so deep in the chimney, that it is much safer, and also less liable to puff in windy weather.

7th. A slight motion of the shaker cleanses the entire fire, and causes it to burn with great brilliancy and intensity of heat.

Samples may be seen and references had at the store of W. BARNES, corner of 3d avenue and Market street, Pittsburgh; W. F. GOODWIN, 66 Federal street, Allegheny, or at the FOUNDRY, corner Duquesne Way and Water street, Pittsburgh.

Parties who are building, or who contemplate changing Grates, are respectfully requested to examine "The Wellman." Satisfaction guaranteed in all cases.

A rumor afloat in the papers that Julius Richter, the well known confectioner and caterer of Allegheny, has the small pox which has much injured his business, proves to be as false as it has been injurious. The certificate of Dr. Lange, his family Physician, that Mr. Richter's sickness is a chronic affection of the liver, and not small pox, which we print to-day, should reassure the friends and customers of Mr. Richter, that his shop is open and may be visited with perfect safety from infectious diseases.

Stable Burned in Allegheny.

Yesterday morning about half past four o'clock the alarm of fire was sounded from box No. 5, Allegheny. The alarm was occasioned by the burning of a stable belonging to Mr. A. D. Hartley. The department was on hands but too late to save the stable, so rapidly did the flames spread; three horses and several sets of harness were destroyed by the devouring element. The total loss is estimated at about seven hundred dollars. There was an insurance of about one hundred and fifty dollars on the stable. It is thought the fire originated from a spark from a lantern carried by a person who fed the horses early in the morning.

Smoke Consumer.

The new smoke consumer, now on exhibition at the foundry of Messrs. John B. Herron & Co., is attracting much attention from our manufacturers. It is said to be a complete and satisfactory invention, and promises at no very distant day to become generally adopted, and thus rid our city of its greatest drawback—smoke. We advise all to call and see it, and judge for themselves as to its utility. If it shall prove a success, the inventor will no doubt reap a merited reward, and be hailed as a benefactor of his race. We hope to be able soon, to give an extended notice of this invention, as we know all of our readers are interested in the matter.

Alpena Magnetic Springs.

Among the Magnetic Springs for which the Peninsula of Michigan has of late become remarkable, those at Alpena have recently by the quick and radical cure of sundry severe cases of Chronic, Sceratica and Inflamatory rhumatism, attracted much public attention, and many afflicted persons from all quarters are availing themselves of the pleasant trip all the way by rail and water to tell in their own persons the wonderful virtues of the Alpena Springs. We would advise any of our Summer tourists who have ailment of the kidneys or of the nervous system to repair at once to Alpena, where it is almost certain that they will be cured, or greatly benefited.

Improvement Trust Company.

A meeting of citizens interested in the organization of this company was held last evening at the Board of Trade rooms, Josiah Reamer, Esq., presided, and Mr. J. H. Miller acted as secretary. The Chairman stated the object of the meeting, after which the Secretary read quite a lengthy description of the company, its charter, its objects, plans, &c. Addresses were delivered by Messrs. Henry M. Long, John H. Kerr, J. E. McKelvy and George T. Oliver. The books of subscription were opened and a large amount of stock was taken. The meeting was large, and much interest in the matter was shown. The company starts with flattering prospects, and we are sure that under the management of the present Board, it is bound to succeed and become a useful, beneficial institution. We advise all of our readers to call at the office of the company, No. 75 Fourth avenue, and examine the very liberal charter which has been granted by the Legislature. It is a significant fact that the stockholders so far are principally workingmen and mechanics, and it is this class of persons who are to be benefited by it, and who are solicited to take stock. We wish the new company success and expect to see it attained. "A penny saved is a penny earned."

Respectfully,

A. P. CALLOW, Mayor.

THE GRADUATES' FAREWELL.

Pittsburgh Female College—Commencement Exercises Last Night—A Brilliant Audience And an Attractive Programme—Prizes Awarded—Closing Scenes.

The commencement exercises of any college are always of interest to those who are then to bid farewell to school life, and step out into the practical realities of the great world beyond; of interest to those who, in other years, have passed through the same graduating ceremonials and love thus to have recalled happy hours of the by-gone; and of interest to the parents and friends of the graduates who always see in the occasion, much that is the cause of pardonable pride and genuine happiness. Surrounded with such interest, "Commencement" is always pleasing and well attended. But when, in connection with this interest, there is the additional attraction offered by a thoroughly enjoyable literary and musical treat—when such has invariably proven the case in the past, it is not to be wondered at that the recurrence of the pleasant exercises should attract an audience such as that which last evening greeted the fair young graduates of the class of '71 at the Pittsburgh Female College.

The exercises had been announced to take place in the Chapel of the College, which was perhaps the only mistake of the evening, for though ordinarily sufficient to contain those who attend the routine exercises, it was totally insufficient to accommodate with any degree of comfort those who desired to be present, and many of whom were unable to gain admittance inside the doors. There has rarely been such a large audience, even at the entertainments of this popular institution, and certainly never one more select in all respects or more conspicuous for culture and fashion. They began to gather early, and before the exercises commenced, the seats were filled, the aisles blocked up and room in the deep bay window at a premium. An additional attraction to the pleasure of the hour was the fragrance from innumerable beautiful bouquets with which the attendants were provided in lavish abundance.

The young ladies, six in number, tastefully arrayed in the conventional white—the "commencement" custume—entered about eight o'clock and took seats upon the platform, which was also occupied by Revs. L. M. Gardner, R. L. Miller and W. A. Davidson, D. D.

The exercises were opened with the "College March," a spirited instrumental duett, by Miss S. Patterson and Mrs. Blessner.

Rev. Dr. Davidson of East Liberty, then led the audience in prayer, which was followed with "Scenes that are Brightest," a very pretty ballad, sung in a clear and pleasant style by Miss Minnie Mapel.

Then came the first essay upon the programme, the Salutatory by Miss Lida A. Brown, of Saltsburg, in which neat references were made to the "school life," about to close; greetings extended to the instructors who had led the scholars forward, in mental discipline for the conflict of life; congratulations to the patrons, at the evidences everywhere manifesting that their object,—the higher elevation,—the mental culture of women, was being so well attained, and hopes that the lessons learned by the "graduates" would enable them to "act well their parts" on that stage of active life upon which each was now to appear. The essay was very happily conceived and the language chaste and elegant throughout.

"Distant chimes" by a trio Misses F. Harding, E. Hinderliter, and J. Harding elicited enthusiastic applause, at the conclusion of which Miss Florence Hartupee of Pittsburgh in an essay of a semi-allegorical character, talked of the change from life in the literary institution to the great "school of life" in which new lessons were to be learned and success attained by that one who patiently, preservingly, practically toiled for the elevation of the race, keeping that as a fixed purpose always in view. The essay was remarkable for practical thought and an absence of a sort of etherial theorizing which is too often the fault with "school compositions." At the close the reader received almost a shower of boquets.

The Latin essay "De Laboris Necessitate," by Miss Kate Collier, exhibited that fair performer in a creditable light as a reader, and an evident familiarity with the subject attested that her researches into that deadest of dead languages, were of an exceedingly lively character. Boquets and applause followed her as she sat down.

Miss Mary F. McIlyar, of Pittsburgh, talked of "Who shall be greatest" in a logical way, and carried her audience along to the conclusion, that the greatest would be that one who made the best of opportunities, calmly, steadily advancing, and whether "unhonored and unsung," leading a noble, self-sacrificing, cheerful—which was a great life. The audience seemed to appreciate her ideas if applause be any criterion.

Miss Maggie Mullen varied the exercises here with a song "Pacea la Notte Placida." She received a flattering reception and at the close was compelled to take the stage again in response to an enthusiastic encore.

Miss Agnes M. Kerr, of Birmingham, in an essay of unusual brilliancy, contended that the spirit of energy and determination which found expression in the motto "Onward" was that to which all the great and renowned of time owned their successes, that which made the name of Napoleon famous, added a lustre to the brightness of Wellington's glory, caused victory and honor to cluster around the gallant "Little Phil" (applause) and would enable all to scale the mountain steep, and reach the summit where the fragrant flowers grow and where honor and fame and "success" were awarded the earnest toiler. Miss Kerr exhibited a strong, terse, vocabulary and a style which at times was quite florid, always attractive and never misty. She deserved fully the applause received.

She was followed by Miss Jean Wallace, who was greeted with applause as she ascended the platform and sang "Oh! Forse, e Lui" in a manner which gave the audience a new proof that the judges were correct in their decision in according her the prize at the contest Monday evening. Miss Wallace was rewarded with a hearty encore, but by reason of hoarseness had to be excused from other vocal efforts.

The closing essay of the evening was that of Miss Emma P. Sawyer of Marine, Illinois, whose subject, "The intellect—a mine that pays the worker," was closed with touching words of farewell that seemed to touch a sympathetic chord in the hearts of many—not alone of those who, as teachers and schoolmates were about to part, but of others to whom the occasion recalled tender reminiscences of the "by gone." The essay was very neatly worded, beautiful in idea, and read in a style which added not a little to the impressiveness of the language.

There was a silence for a moment after the close of the "valedictory address," which was succeeded by a piano solo, executed by Miss Sadie Cunningham, whose proficiency before the keyboard won for her the prize at the Contest, and whose instrumentation of "Caprice De Concert" was full of animation and beauty.

The Rev. L. M. Gardner, Pastor of the Liberty street M. E. Church, then delivered the address to the graduates, brief but to the point, always practical and at times exceedingly eloquent. He was followed by President Pershing who conferred the degrees and then announced the distribution of the following prizes—some of the decisions of the committees having only been handed in during the day and being opened in presence of the audience.

The McKee prize—instrumental music—gold medal, to Miss Sadie Cunningham.

Mrs Margaret Davidson prize—Reading—beautiful silver cup to Miss Minnie Mapel.

President's prize—Essay—to Miss Agnes M. Kerr.

Mrs. Bishop Simpson prize—the Committee were unable to decide between Miss Jennie Patterson and Miss L. Green, and two prizes, elegant copies of Shakespeare's works were awarded.

The Mary Kidd Foster prize in painting—to Miss Mary Murtland, and in drawing to Miss Amy Knox.

President Pershing, also announced that the Trustees had conferred the degree of M. A. on Miss. Frances A. Fish, of the class of 1862, and Miss Anna E. Fish, of the class of 1865.

In conclusion he made a few congratulatory remarks to the patrons and friends of the institution upon its success and extended a general invitation to all, who desired at any time to inspect the building or learn anything of the college. Without boasting the Trustees threw down "the gauntlet to any school in the land for thoroughness of work." For this reason, an inspection of the advantages of the college would always be looked upon with favor.

The Misses Wallace, Washburne, Heriderliliter, F. Harding and J. Harding now sang the closing song, "We'll all go home to-morrow," which elicited the most marked enthusiasm, after which the audience was dismissed with the benediction.

The closing scenes—perhaps to many the most interesting of all—witnessed kindly farewell between teachers and schoolmates and companions—as the graduates composing one of the best classes of which this institution has ever boasted, severed their connection with "school life" and the College walls, to reflect, if half their hopes are realized, honor and dignity upon their beloved Alma Mater.

And thus closed another year in the history of this popular College—a year which has been full of promise for the future.

FOUND DEAD.

A Prominent Citizen of Allegheny Dies Suddenly—The Cause Unknown.

It is seldom that we have been called upon to record an occurrence that has given us more real pain than the sudden death of a friend, a prominent citizen of the community, Mr. Joseph P. Estep, which was brought to the notice of the family yesterday morning.

The evening previous he had returned in good health, and in the morning when Mrs. Estep arose quite early she noticed his absence. Her fears were somewhat alarmed at the unusual circumstances, and she at once commenced to investigate, which resulted in the discovery of her husband in the bath house kneeling outside the bath tub, with his face to the wall and hands hanging listlessly in front. She immediately called help, and when the other members of the family arrived they removed him from the position,—to find that life was extinct, although the body was yet warm. A cloth which he had evidently been wringing in his hand lay in front of him but there was no indication of any struggle—the countenance appearing as calm and placid as though he only slept. Efforts at resuscitation were made but proved fruitless,—life having evidently fled before the body was discovered,—how long none can tell.

His sudden death is rendered more strange from the fact that the deceased for many years had been in the enjoyment of excellent health, and had not recently complained of the slightest indisposition.

Mr. Estep was one of our most highly respected citizens, and was well known throughout our business and social circles. For several years past he has been a member of the firm of Phelps, Parke & Co., and had won an enviable reputation in commercial circles for ripe judgment and probity in all his dealings. He was a leading member in the First Baptist Church, Allegheny, and exhibited in his intercourse with all, in the world as in the church, the graces of a true Christian gentleman. The loss to the church will be great, as it will be felt also in business, but it is in the social circle that he will perhaps be the most keenly missed. In all the relations of husband, father, friend, or counselor, he developed qualities which won him the warmest love and fullest confidence of those with whom he mingled. He was but in the fifty-fourth year of his age and leaves a widow and an estimable family, whose grief at their terrible bereavement will be shared in by many, in business and social life, who enjoyed his acquaintance.

The funeral will take place from his late residence, No. 53 Liberty street, Allegheny, to-morrow (Saturday) morning at ten o'clock.

BIRMINGHAM HIGH SCHOOL.

Entertainment and Contest Last Night—Excellent Music.

We witnessed the highly interesting entertainment given by the pupils of the Birmingham High School, in the Public School Building last night. The exercises consisted of contests in three different reading classes, interspersed with excellent vocal and instrumental music by the students, Prof. G. W. Huey, Miss Hair and W. H. Pope.

Long before the beginning of the performances the room, which was entirely too small for an exhibition of this class, was filled to its utmost capacity by the friends of the performers, and many were turned away, not even standing room remaining. The reading of the contestants was most praiseworthy and received deserved encomiums from the audience.

But the singing was par excellence, the best that we ever remember to have heard at any public school exhibition. To Prof. Huey, the worthy instructor in music and manager of the musical part of last night's entertainment is due the highest laudation. The Professor is not only a first class teacher but he has shown in an eminent degree that he is capable of selecting and arranging such pieces as best please a intelligent and appreciative audience.

Prof. Jones, Principal of the school, also deserves great credit, as much of the success of the entertainment was due to his exertions.

At the conclusion of the exercises the Judges made up their awards which were announced and the audience dispersed.

POLICE ITEMS.

Brief Mention of Criminalities.

Jacob Brosey appeared before Alderman Koenig yesterday and made information against John Perchment, a man of perhaps fifty years of age, charging him with an attempt to commit rape on his (Brosey's) wife. Brosey, it appears, is living in a house which he has rented from Perchment. A few evenings ago Mr. P. called for the rent in Brosey's absence and Mrs. B. paid it to him. It is alleged that the assault was then made. A warrant was issued.

Thomas McClarthy alleged before Alderman O'Donnell that John Boyd "hit him on the snout", and had the pugilistic John arrested. A cross suit was then entered by John, charging Thomas with a similar offence. The parties were both held for a hearing.

The Humbert Case.

Humbert the barber, colored and married, and employed at Campbell's shop, charged with attempted rape on the person of Eliza Smith, a white girl, aged about six years, had a final hearing before Alderman Butler last evening.

Dr. McNary was sworn and gave testimony rather unfavorable to the prisoner. The little girl was considered too young to understand the nature of an oath, and was therefore not sworn. Hugh McClure and John Smith, two little boys, said they knew something about the case. They were questioned, not under oath, however, being too young, and said that Humbert gave the little girl money to buy candy, and also gave her whisky. The Alderman felt warranted, under the evidence, in holding the accused in the sum of $1,000 for trial. Mr. Campbell, his employer, became his surety.

The horse was finally brought to a stand by coming in contact with the iron awning posts at Dr. Charles Hauch's drug store, at the corner of Second avenue and Grant. The shafts of the vehicle were broken into fragments and the horse was considerably bruised, but otherwise uninjured.

A COMMON scold indictment was brought to the attention of the Court of Quarter Sessions yesterday. Here is an old law, still in force, that is manifestly inequitable. Its injustice consists in that it applies only to females. A male biped may bluster and blow with impunity, while the weaker sex must "sing dumb." If they "talk back" they are liable to indictment, and, in case of conviction, to severe punishment. Let the Sorosis at once agitate this question, and demand proper legislation. They should insist that the law apply equally to both sexes.

MORE THAN a year ago a sketch originally appeared in these columns entitled "how a lad wheeled himself into fortune and influence," based on a pleasant story told by one of our bankers at the annual meeting of the stockholders, of the Central Passenger Railway of this city. It had a large circulation, being copied all through the country, and now it comes home appearing in the last issue of the Christian Radical of this city. Our story is located in Boston and is credited to the Workingman's Journal. So much for transient literature.

Amusements.

THE NEW OPERA HOUSE.—If the audiences of the several preceding nights that greeted the celebrated Jane Coombs dramatic company were above the ordinary, that of last night must be regarded as the par excellence. There were drawn into the auditorium and dress circle an assemblage conspicuous for refinement. Shoddy was there, but the predominant part of the audience was made up of ladies and gentlemen of culture and refinement, those who draw the desperate line between keen appreciation and foolish fashion. Fops and pretentious damsels, with no ideas outside of what might have been enveloped in their luxuriant back hair (worth, we believe, about one dollar an ounce) were present, but their number was few. The real intellect of the city, unadorned and plain, was represented and the talented company had another positive proof that our city fully appreciates the genuine drama. The very interesting drama of "Love's Sacrifice" was interpreted in a powerful and most beautiful manner. In no other character have the several artists appeared to better advantage. The play abounds in striking passages and strong situations. Every line was well acted, and from tears the audience was moved to mirth and gladness, and from gladness and mirth to sullen sadness. The interpretation was a grand and successful triumph of the company, and we believe all present last evening will agree with us that it was the master-piece of the engagement.

To-night Romeo and Juliet will be rendered. Seats for all the remaining performances can be had at the box office.

THE ACADEMY.—A few people, attracted by the burning lamps at the Academy last night, made up the audience to some sort of a mongrel entertainment. The advertisements of the city press did not discover what it was. The drop curtain was very fine and elicted glad and hearty applause. The play was "rank"—most appropriate title. The Lina Edwin troupe appears elswhere next time. Good thing for Pittsburgh; bad thing for elswhere.

THE PEOPLE'S COLLEGE.

Commencement Exercises—Gathering of Intelligence, Beauty and Fashion—Brilliant Essays and Orations—Music and Banquets—The Class of '71 Bids Adieu, etc.

The commencement exercises of the graduating class of the Pittsburgh Central High School were held last evening in Library Hall. As is usual on such occasions, the audience was very large, and all the exercises of great interest. No better criterion can be presented to demonstrate the place that this institution occupies in the affections of our people than the audience congregated on such occasions. More than usual interest gathers around this commencement, owing to the fact that before another such occasion the magnificent new High School building would be occupied.

Previous to the opening exercises the audience were delighted with sweet music by Toerges' famous string band which continued to discourse sweet melody at intervals.

The opening prayer was made by Rev. Mr. Boice, of Cincinnati, after which Principal Dean introduced Albert Schultz, who proceeded to deliver an oration on "Mathematics as an Instrument of Education." The oration was delivered in a fine, bold manner, lucid in its treatment, and methodical in its arrangement.

The next performance was an essay by Anna M. McCague, entitled, "Beyond our Vision." Miss McCague performed her part with great credit indeed. Her essay was a model of beautiful and appropriate sentiment and language.

Virginia C. Bigelow chose, as her theme for essay, "Living Springs," and in a clear, pure voice performed so well that we fancied we listened to a sweet and flowing poem.

After music by the band, another essay was read by Sarah E. Hunter, on the subject, "Beyond the Alps lies Italy." The essayist opened with a beautiful allusion to the land of beauty and of song, and gradually merged into the true aim of the subject, namely, the difficulties to be overcome in order to great achievement.

Margaret J. Hoyer came forward upon the platform and informed the large and attentive audience "How the Girls Should be Educated." The essayist advocated a new system of physical and moral culture, and believed that a new era was dawning for the ladies.

The next essay was by Nannie Y. Boice, subject, "The Mountains are Wearing Away." The essay was one of great excellence of matter and delivered in a clear, sweet voice.

At this point the exercises were varied with an oration by Richard Cannon. The young gentleman took as his theme "Emigration," and proved ad demonstrandum, that is an unalterable law of nature and that we as a nation have received incalculable benefit thereby.

Martha. J. McClure followed and submitted to a appreciative audience an essay on the subject "Unfinished Work". Miss McClure is a beautiful and winning young lady and her essay was a perfect gem. She received the undivided attention of all to the close.

The tenth essay was read by Sarah E. Philips on the "Burdens of Modern Boys and Girls," after which Ella M. Cargo read the last essay, taking as her subject "The World's Allotments." The essay was a contrast between the past and present and the superior allotment of those who live in this great land. It was a clear, strong statement of earnest truth.

The last performance was an oration with valedictory address by George T. Fleming. The young gentleman chose as his subject "Man and Mind." The effort throughout was one of superior excellence for one so young, displaying eminent culture and care. The valedictory address was feeling and appropriate and made a visible effect on Faculty and pupils.

At the close of the address the graduating class in response to their names arose in their places and received their Diplomas from Principal Dean.

Altogether there has never been a commencement in the history of the Central High School, which was more satisfactory to the Faculty and friends of this efficient institution. Every one of the youthful graduates without exception displayed a more than ordinary amount of culture and talent. Too much praise cannot be given to Principal Dean and his devoted and able assistants for the high position occupied at present by our noble college. Its success has been in the past beyond the most sanguine expectations of its friends, and we wish it unbounded success in the future.

WESTERN UNIVERSITY.

Class Day Exercises—Poem, Prophecy, Oration, History and Ode—Presentation of the Wooden Spoon, etc.

The Class Day Exercises of the graduating class of the Western University were held yesterday afternoon, in the College Chapel, commencing at 3 o,clock. When the hour had arrived, a large and interested audience had assembled and were waiting anxiously for the exercises to commence. Toerges' celebrated string band was in attendance and enlivened the proceedings with excellent music. Suddenly the door of the Hall opened and up the aisle marched the young aspirants for an immortality of fame dressed, as is the custom, in long flowing Oxford gowns. After having been suitably arranged on the platform, Mr. E. A. Hartman, in the absence of the Chairman, presided, and opened the performance by reading a poem entitled "The Old Chapel." We have no doubt but that the poem was very good, but owing to the manner in which it was delivered, we were unable to hear scarcely a syllable of it. But this was to be accounted for by the fact of the presence of so many beautiful ladies, with bright eyes fastened on the young gentleman, who is extremely bashful at the best.

The next gentleman who made his debut was he of the celebrated name—Isaac Newton Patterson, who proceeded to deliver the "Class Day History." This performance was well gotten up and well delivered and was received with marked favor by the audience. Many funny episodes were unearthed which created considerable amusement.

The "Prophecy" was then delivered by Mr. J. N. McGonnigle. If the stars speak the truth there is a strange future before the class of '71. Mr. McGonnigle, by his ready wit, by his commingling of the sublimely grand with the sublimely ridiculous, and his cutting sarcasm kept his audience convulsed with laughter throughout the entire performance. At the close the applause he received testified to the appreciation of the audience.

Mr. George Hersh delivered the oration. If the class of '71 realize his expectations it shall shake the world yet with its glory.

Then followed the presentation of the "Wooden Spoon" to the Junior Class. The presentation speech was made by Mr. J. Carothers in a very felicitous manner. Mr. J. M. Duff responded on behalf of the Juniors. He thanked them for their gift, remarking that it was a very appropriate gift owing to the fact that the class of '71 was a very "spoony" class indeed.

During the above speech one of the Juniors (Mr. T. D. Carnaghan) was seen walking up the aisle carrying a large box on his shoulder and a huge axe in his hand. He deposited his burden on the platform in front of the Seniors and proceeded to open it amid the wonder of all. When lo! he brought forth a razor and presented it to Mr. J. Crozier of the graduating class who is a youth not celebrated in the same manner as Esau was.

After the singing by the class of an ode composed for the occasion by Mr. J. Crozier the class of '71 bowed their adieu.

This morning at 11 o'clock President Woods will deliver his Baccalaureate address in the Chapel of the University. The Doctor is a finished scholar, a deep thinker, and an effective and eloquent speaker, and we hope there will be a large audience in attendance.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon there will be a business meeting of the Alumni, when business of the utmost importance will be brought before the meeting.

This evening at eight o'clock the Alumni Association hold their annual meeting in the First Presbyterian Church, Wood street. Rev. D. T. Carnaghan will deliver the annual oration and the Hon. E. P. Weston, of Chicago, will read his poem composed for the occasion. Mr. C. Mellor has kindly consented to add to the pleasure of all by giving a concert. This is the first time that the public will have the pleasure of hearing the celebrated new organ of the First Church. PHILIP HOERR, P. M.

Handsome, Durable and Cheap.

The word handsome is applied very often by persons who do not mean what they say. You are at times asked if you do not think Miss —— is handsome, of course you say, Yes. True, what may appear handsome to one will not be viewed in the same light by another, but all will agree with us when we we say that the Bed Chamber sets of Furniture offered for sale by C. A. Boucher, No. 45 Smithfield street, are really handsome in the true sense of the word. That they will be durable none can doubt as they were manufactured by himself and warranted to be of the best material. Now comes the point. Is the amount asked for them low? We say yes. He is selling Chamber sets, at less than first cost. Having a great many of them on hand, he has wisely concluded that to sell them less than cost will pay better than to carry them over the dull season. Now is the time to secure a bargain. We advise the ladies to call and examine them. Parties contemplating matrimony and all others wishing to furnish a room handsomely, can secure bargains for the next thirty days that have never been offered in this market before, 45 Smithfield street is his number.

The Weed.

The Weed Sewing Machine is unexcelled for ease of operation, simplicity and durability. The reputation of the Weed is well established and the agency in this city is in good hands. All machines are thorougly warranted and sold on the most advantageous terms. Those wanting sewing machines should call and examine the "family favorite" at the parlors of Messrs. John Biggert & Son, No. 116 Market street.

To the Public.—My stock of bed chamber furniture being very large, I have determined to sell them off at less than cost rather than carry them over the dull season. I would respectfully request those in want of a handsome suit of furniture at twenty-five per cent less than usually sold at, to call and get price list of my goods.

OIL NEWS.

ARMSTRONG RUN OIL FIELD.

Wolf, Andrews & Co.'s well, No. 6, Clark farm, was torpedoed on Friday of last week and has since been producing from 60 to 70 barrels per day.

The Templeton & Foster well, Jenning's farm is producing three barrels per day.

Well No. 4, Meldron farm, is producing four barrels per day.

General reports make the above two wells 15 and 20 barrels per day.

The Clark & Painter wells have been placed under the superintendence of Mr. A. Allshouse, and will hereafter receive proper management. The Clark is to be drilled deeper, cleaned and torpedoed. The Painter will be tested this week. It is to be torpedoed.

The tools that were lost in the Harris well, No. 15, four months ago, still remain there with others to keep them company.

PARKER OIL FIELD.

Several new wells are drilling in the vicinity of Farrentown, one of which is nearly completed, promising to prove a good well.

The Barker well No. 8, Conley farm, was torpedoed one day last week, and its production increased to about fifteen barrels per day.

Preparation is being made to sink a well on the Baxter M'Ginnis farm above the West Emlenton property and near a well which is now producing five barrels per day.

Several new oil rigs have been erected on the east side of the river, opposite the Landing, on the hill. Operations all along the Clarion side look brisk.

The Cannon well, up Bear Creek, still continues to flow water to a great height. It is something worth going to see.

A new rig has been erected on the Morgan farm near Little Bear Creek by Mr. Benson and others, and preparations for drilling are being made.

The well known as Gloryhole No. 2 or "Flirt Lock," located on the south side of Bear Creek, has been pumping for several months and continues to produce some six barrels per day.

The Twin City well on the Stevenson farm, owned by John H. Heener and others, located near Bear Creek, not far from Martinsburg is now pumping some five or six barrels per day.

The two wells sunk on the Wike farm south of Bear Creek, owned by Thompson Kyle and others, continue to be good wells, keeping up to near the production at which they started months ago. The tools were struck in two drilling wells owned by the company, on the Wike farm, on Tuesday last.

The well being sunk by Mr. Jas. M. Lambling, on the Gibson farm some twelve miles south of Bear Creek, was reported as being about through the boulder rock, on Wednesday last. This well will be doubtless pumping next week, and if it prove good will extend the field of operations to a great extent.

The Anna Lee Oil well, on the Fowler farm, owned by Gailey & Dower, was a good well for sometime after commencing to pump, but after pumping for a long time the production decreased to five or six barrels per day. It was torpoeded a short time ago and its daily production again brougth up to about fifty barrels.

The following are some of the late strikes south of Bear Ceeek, which we have heretofore been unable to report correctly:

Overy well, on lease No. 27, Gibson farm, has been pumping over three weeks and is now yielding daily about 15 barrels.

Overy well, on lease No. 28, Gibson farm, has been pumping about two weeks and is now pumping some 25 or 30 barrels per day.

Overy well, on lease No. 5, Campbell farm, has been pumping for some eighteen days, and is yielding 6 or 7 barrels per day.

Mr. J. Overy has, in a very short space of time, sunk no less than eight wells on the south side of Bear Creek, and is now sinking and making preparations to sink nine additional wells. The wells sunk have all proved paying institutions; varing in their production from 6 to 30 barrels per day.

A new well was struck on the old Clapp farm, at Triumph, on tract known as Baker farm, and is pumping at the rate of one hundred and fifty barrels per day. This will be good news to parties owning territory in that vicinity.

About three hundred new wells are going down in the oil regions—sixty in excess of the number being drilled the same time in May, and one hundred and fifty-seven less than the number in process of drilling the same time a year ago.

Capacity of Furnaces.

For the combustion of 1 lb. of bituminous coal, 150.35 cubic feet of atmospheric air is required to be admitted through the grate of a furnace. The combined volume of the atmospheric air and gases resulting from combustion, at the bridge wall, flues, or tubes, is 154.81 cubic feet, the temperature being assumed equal to that of the air at the ash-pit—about 100 degrees. As the heat of an ordinary furnace, however may be estimated at 1,000 degrees, the volume of the combined air and gases is increased by the law of expansion in the ratio of 1 to 2.8783, raising it from 154.81 to 445.59 cubic feet. Finally, as an amount of oxygen equal to that required for the combustion of the coal passes off uncombined, the total volume to which the area of the bridge wall, or the flues and tubes must be proportioned is 891.18 cubic feet. The velocity with which the gasses pass from the furnaces, if the boiler is properly proportioned, is from 30 to 36 feet per second. An area of .99 of a square inch at the bridge wall is, therefore, required, as shown by a brief mathematical calculation, for each pound of coal consumed per hour. This is the minimum limit, it should be remembered; and if less area than this is given at the bridge wall, or to the flues or tubes, defective combustion will be the certain result. In practice it is advisable to increase this proportion of area to the amount of coal consumed, if circumstances will allow, sufficiently to leave an ample margin for the variable conditions to which every furnace is liable in its practical operation.

For the combustion of 1 lb. of anthracite coal the amount of atmospheric air required is 195.45 cubic feet—about 30 per cent. more than for bituminous coal. For the combustion of 1 lb. of coke, only about 108 cubic feet of air is required, or nearly 30 per cent. less than for bituminous coal.—Engineering and Mining Journal.

THE Boston Post, and other Democratic papers still continue to berate Germany, the Emperor and Bismarck, and to pity the poor ignorant stupid Germans who will not see that all the victories are but tightning the chains of their servitude. Following out this line of argument it seems to us we must necessarily come to the conclusion that it would have been far better for the German people if they had been beaten by the French, a deduction so profound that none but a fanatical hater of Germany and Germans can accept it.
